

Murray to Lava Hot Springs — and Home Again

Sunday, August 16 · Murray → Malad → McCammon → Lava Hot Springs → Soda Springs → Preston → Logan → Brigham City → Murray

Two ways home from Soda Springs

Murray → Lava Hot Springs	161.7 mi · 2h 58m
Lava Hot Springs → Soda Springs	22.1 mi · 27 min
— Soda Springs → Murray, via Logan	172.3 mi · 3h 41m
— Soda Springs → Murray, via Bear Lake	192.7 mi · 4h 21m

The Bear Lake option (teal dashed line on the map) trades Preston and the Bear River Massacre site for Garden City's turquoise shoreline and a run down Logan Canyon — about 20 miles and 40 minutes longer, rejoining the original route (blue dashed line) at Logan.

Home — Murray, UT

4748 South Glencrest Road, Murray,
UT 84107

Home base — starting and ending point of the loop.

Malad City — Oneida Pioneer Museum

27 Bannock St, Malad City, ID 83252

Malad City was settled in the 1860s largely by Welsh immigrants — it's said to have more residents of Welsh descent per capita than anywhere in the U.S. outside Wales. The Oneida Pioneer Museum documents that Welsh, Mormon-pioneer, and Shoshone history, and the 1917 Oneida County Courthouse anchors the small historic downtown a block away. (Idaho Heritage Trust)

Devil Creek Reservoir

Devil Creek Reservoir, near I-15 Exit
22, Malad, ID

Tucked into a break in the mountains just north of Malad Pass, Devil Creek Reservoir is stocked with rainbow trout by Idaho Fish & Game. It sits right alongside the highway, with views back down the Malad Valley. (Idaho Fish & Game)

McCammon

McCammon, ID 83250

McCammon grew up in 1892 as the junction of the Oregon Short Line Railroad and the Utah & Northern Railway, earning it the old nickname "Junction City." It still carries some of that railroad-town character, including the historic Harkness Hotel, and marks the turnoff from I-15 onto US-30 toward Lava Hot Springs. (Wikipedia)

Lava Hot Springs

430 E Main St, Lava Hot Springs, ID
83246

The mineral hot pools here have drawn visitors for well over a century; the Shoshone-Bannock people are said to have treated the springs as neutral, sacred ground where rival tribes could bathe in peace. Today the state-run Hot Pools sit alongside a separate Olympic-size swimming pool and waterslide complex on the Portneuf River, with Main Street's shops and cafes a short walk away — the turnaround point of the day. (lavahotsprings.org)

5

Soda Springs Geyser

39 W 1st S, Soda Springs, ID 83276

Drillers looking for a warm-water swimming pool in 1937 accidentally tapped a pressurized aquifer, creating a geyser so powerful the town had to cap it with a valve. It's now set on a timer to erupt roughly on the hour at Geyser Park downtown — an easy stop with picnic tables nearby. (Visit Soda Springs)

6

Hooper Springs Park

1805 Government Dam Rd, Soda Springs, ID 83276

Hooper Spring was a documented stop on the Oregon and California Trails, where westbound emigrants paused to sample the naturally carbonated "soda" water the town is named for. A small stone pavilion still covers the spring today, and the shaded park around it makes a pleasant short break — about 2 miles north of the geyser, barely off the direct route. (City of Soda Springs)

7

Bear River Massacre Site

US-91, Preston, ID 83263

On January 29, 1863, California Volunteer troops attacked a Northwestern Shoshone winter camp along the Bear River, killing an estimated 250–400 men, women, and children — more than at Sand Creek or Wounded Knee. A 1932 monument and newer interpretive panels, developed with the Northwestern Band of the Shoshone Nation, mark the bluff overlooking the site, directly on the route into Preston. (Bear River Heritage Area)

8

Preston — Historic Downtown

36 S State St, Preston, ID 83263

Preston's unassuming downtown — including the Franklin County Courthouse, the old Deseret Industries thrift store, and Preston High School — became familiar to millions after Napoleon Dynamite was filmed here on a shoestring budget in 2003. Fans still stop for tater tots and to spot Rex Kwon Do landmarks. (Graham's Guide)

9

Logan Tabernacle

50 N Main St, Logan, UT 84321

Built between 1878 and 1891 from local limestone and timber, the Logan Tabernacle has served as a community gathering place for well over a century. It sits at the heart of Logan's walkable downtown in Cache Valley, with the larger Logan Temple visible on the bench above. (Bear River Heritage Area)

10

Box Elder Tabernacle

251 S Main St, Brigham City, UT 84302

The original Box Elder Tabernacle burned in 1896 and was rebuilt within a year; its distinctive candlestick-topped tower and spires make it one of the most photographed buildings in northern Utah. Brigham City is the last stop before this drive rejoins I-15 south toward Murray. (jacobbarlow.com)

↩

Return to Murray, UT

4748 South Glencrest Road, Murray, UT 84107

The dashed blue route on the map traces the drive back from Brigham City down I-15 to Murray — about 65.6 mi, roughly 1 hr 15 min.

Distances and drive times are approximate and do not include time spent at stops. Verify opening hours before visiting. © OpenStreetMap contributors for map & route data; sources cited inline.